EXHIBIT CL

Customs Language

(a) For purposes of this clause, "Fees and Duties" means any license fees, duties, port charges, and other lawful charges associated with customs clearance or import/export procedures.

(b) Contractor will not pay, and will ensure that its agents and subcontractors do not pay, any overtime charges, facilitating payments, expediting fees and the like without first confirming the legality of any such payments. Contractor will also comply with any applicable local customs & importation/exportation compliance procedures ("Procedures") provided by Buyer or an Affiliate. As set forth in such Procedures or otherwise specified in writing by Buyer, Buyer may pay any Fees and Duties directly into a Government designated bank account. In such instances, Contractor will fully cooperate with Buyer in enabling these direct payments by Buyer, e.g. notifying Buyer when direct payment needs to be made and providing Buyer with pertinent documentation to verify the payment amount and as otherwise requested by Buyer.

(c) When Buyer does not directly pay the Government per the previous paragraph, Contractor will pay Fees and Duties to a Government designated bank account by electronic funds transfer or check. If electronic funds transfer or check is not possible, Contractor will consult with Buyer to develop an alternative method of payment of the Fees and Duties. Contractor will cooperate with Buyer in establishing and implementing written processes to verify when possible that these payments are being made into the Government designated bank account. This includes obtaining verification directly from any banks involved, not from a third party involved in the payment such as the freight forwarder or customs agent of Contractor. In addition to any other audit rights under this Agreement, Buyer may examine Contractor's payment and other activities related to Fees and Duties to verify Contractor's compliance with this clause. When Contractor pays Fees and Duties, Buyer will comply with applicable requirements in this Agreement as to reimbursing Contractor.

(d) At least once a month or as requested by Buyer, Contractor will provide to Buyer a detailed and itemized report of payments of Fees and Duties made by Contractor or its agents.

(e) With respect to customs clearance, freight forwarding, or transportation logistics services, Contractor will:

(i) Coordinate the efforts of all parties involved including Buyer, forwarding agents, vendors, inspectors, and expediters;

(ii) Ensure that relevant documents are furnished by vendors promptly, clearly define Fees and Duties, and comply with Buyer's transportation, documentation, and shipping instructions;

(iii) Make arrangements with Buyer or its nominated agency for transporting of the materials or equipment to Buyer's specified destination as soon as customs clearance is completed; and

(iv) Identify any refunds or exceptions to payment obligations in Fees and Duties.

(a) For purposes of this clause, "Fees and Duties" means any license fees, duties, port charges, and other lawful charges associated with customs clearance or import/export procedures.

(b) The primary compensation structure for this agreement is, either DDP, Lump-Sum or Fixed Rate.

(c) Under this Agreement, Contractor is responsible for the customs clearance of the goods, including making all fees and duties payments; there is no reimbursement obligation by ExxonMobil for these payments. Contractor will also comply with any applicable in country customs & importation/exportation compliance procedures.

(d) Contractor will not pay, and will ensure that its agents and Subcontractors do not pay any overtime charges, facilitating payments, expediting fees and the like without first confirming the legality of any such payments. In addition to any other audit rights under this Agreement, Buyer may examine Contractor's payment and other activities related to Fees and Duties to verify Contractor's compliance with this clause.

(e) As stated above Contractor is solely liable for paying all Fees and Duties. However, pursuant to a government's request or upon Buyer's sole request, Contractor will provide to Buyer a detailed and itemized report of payments of Fees and Duties made by Contractor or its agents.
